U.S. Draft Chief Opposes Lottery Selection Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today it is an illusion to believe that a lottery method could solve any problems of the system of drafting youths for military service.

He said the gravest weakness of such a system would be "the substitution of chance for judgment."

Hershey was the first witness as the House Armed Services Committee opened hearings on how the Selective Service System is operating. Committee Chairman L. Mendell Rivers D-S.C., has described the Selective Service as an "unpleasant fact of life that can not be wished away."

Both Rivers and Hershey had prepared statements to read at the opening hearing which started before a standing-room only crowd liberally sprinkled with college students.

Rivers, in his opening remarks, raised the possibility of lowering the upper limit of direct draft liability from the present 26. Men who get deferments now remain liable for service up to 35 but few over 26 get called.

Hershey, who has headed the Selective Service for 25 years, traced the history of the draft and defended deferment policy powers granted to local boards.

"So long as we recognize the wisdom of allocating our manpower resources to support to the greatest possible degree both our armed forces and our national economy, we should also recognize the wisdom of approaching this allocation problem with the best judgment we can muster rather than by chance," Hershey said.

The hearings follow recent calls by congressmen, educators and others for a review of draft methods.

Some have said the system discriminates against the poor who can not afford to go to college, by permitting deferments for students.

Hershey noted these complaints and said such criticisms are not new.

He noted current criticism of use of class ranking and tests for college students, saying both systems were regularly used to guide local boards in deferment decisions from the Korean War until 1963, when they were dropped.

Hershey said these criteria never have been intended to be the sole measuring stick of a deferment.

Arabia King Continues His Visit in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia addresses a luncheon sponsored by Washington news correspondents today and continues conferences with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The king arrived in the capital Tuesday for a three-day stay as part of his 10-day state visit. He received a booming, 21-gun salute on the White House lawn, then joined Johnson in an air-conditioned limousine for a parade through downtown Washington.

After a White House dinner Tuesday night, the king was saluted with a brilliant red, white and blue display of aerial fireworks and the martial music of bands marching on the flood-lit lawn.

In a toast at the stag dinner, Johnson praised Faisal as "a great ruler, a wise statesman and a warm friend." The king responded by calling the President "a man of good intentions, great personality and integrity."

Earlier, Faisal and Johnson had conferred for two hours. Spokesmen said the discussion ranged from the world situation, including Viet Nam, to the economic and development programs in the two countries.

Faisal flies to New York Thursday for a week of conferences with government and business leaders.

Lima Newspaper Forced To Cease Publication

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Lima Star ceased publication today after slightly more than nine months of operation.

The Star's board of directors said after a meeting Tuesday night it could reach no other decision because of continuing financial difficulties with the newspaper publication which began last Sept. 8.

Crime Rate Climb Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts put their heads together today in search of space-age methods to combat the nation's swelling crime rate.

Some 500 educators, industry experts and law enforcement officials have been invited to a first-of-its-kind "national symposium on science and criminal justice."

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, cosponsor of the conference, said its purpose is "to give science a clear view of what new tools and techniques are needed in the national effort to improve the control of crime."

Poor People Get Break in Latest Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today a bill which permits poor people awaiting trial in federal court to be released without bond. He said it will "eliminate needless, arbitrary cruelty."

At a signing ceremony in the East Room of the White House, Johnson said that with the reforms "we can begin to insure that defendants are considered as individuals and not as dollar signs."

Heretofore, he said, the scales of justice have been weighted not with fact nor law nor mercy but with money.

Because many defendants could not afford bail in the past, Johnson said they often languished in jail for "weeks and months and perhaps even years before trial," not because they were guilty or had been sentenced but because they were poor.

The President noted the new law does not require the release of every arrested person nor does it restrict the power of the courts to "detain dangerous persons in capital cases." He added:

"What this measure does do is eliminate needless, arbitrary cruelty. What it does do, in my judgment, is greatly enlarge justice."

No-bail release in limited to noncapital cases in which the judge deems the defendant trustworthy.

DeGaulle, Soviet Views On Viet War Said 'Similar'

MOSCOW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle discussed the war in Viet Nam with Communist chief Leonid I. Brezhnev today and French sources reported their views were similar.

The informants said De Gaulle was critical of U.S. policy on Viet Nam while Brezhnev accused the United States of savage aggression.

The French sources said the two leaders "noted the convergence of their points of view on the Viet Nam situation."

They also reviewed Soviet-French relations in the economic, cultural and scientific fields, the sources said. This reportedly included reference to agreements on joint space ventures and technical cooperation which were worked out in advance of De Gaulle's visit.

He arrived here Monday and held formal conferences with Soviet leaders in the Kremlin Tuesday and today.

Earlier French sources said differing viewpoints had slowed up the opening round Tuesday.

"When we talk about easing of tensions, they talk about security," one French informant complained.

De Gaulle sat down in the Kremlin today for another session before leaving on a week's tour of four Soviet cities. He will meet Soviet leaders for more formal talks after he returns to Moscow June 29.

The differences Tuesday apparently involved De Gaulle's suggestion that other West European states, notably West Germany, hold bilateral talks with the Russians to try to ease East-West tensions in Europe.

The talks are expected to continue informally on the road.

Dodd's Trip To Germany Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's former administrative assistant swore today that the senator told him the purpose of a 1964 trip to Germany was to help Chicago public relations man Juolius Klein.

James P. Boyd Jr. was the first witness as the bipartisan Senate Ethics Committee began taking public testimony in its investigation of misconduct charges against Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat.

A trip Dodd made to Germany in April 1964 has been described by the committee as "a critical element" in the current phase of its probe — the senator's relationship with Klein, a registered agent for West German interests.

Boyd testified that before the senator made the trip, Klein had advised him that he had lost clients in Germany and needed to be "bolstered" and to have his "image refurbished."

Boyd said also that David Martin, a long-time aide to the senator, told him that the matter of interviewing a prisoner in a German prison also was involved in the trip.

Dodd has said that he made the trip for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to investigate murder and kidnapping as instruments of Soviet policy.

Dodd asked the Ethics Committee to conduct its current probe after columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson published various charges against him. Boyd has acknowledged that he turned over thousands of documents from the senator's files to the columnists.

School Bus Makers Get 2nd Chance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State school officials Tuesday gave bus body makers a second chance to submit bids under a state plan for cooperative bidding on school bus purchases.

A second round of bid openings was set for July 6. At the first openings Monday, body makers submitted no bids. Only eight bids were submitted, all from chassis manufacturers and dealers.

State Attorney General William B. Saxbe said the body makers "demonstrated their arrogance" in boycotting the bid openings. He said he was checking for possible violations of federal and state anti-trust laws.

School officials had hoped to receive bids on bodies and complete buses so state ceiling prices could be determined to guide in distribution of a $5 million bus purchase subsidy approved by the General Assembly last year.

They said the chassis bids submitted were $1,000 to $1,500 lower than prices asked last year, but that lack of other bids may delay delivery of buses to local school districts this fall.

Storms, Rain Strike Dakota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Electrical storms accompanied by heavy rain and a couple of funnel clouds struck eastern South Dakota late Tuesday night, and an inch or more of rain soaked parts of Florida.

In less than an hour, Turon, S.D., received more than 1.5 inches of rain along with hail.

At Aberdeen, S.D., two-thirds of an inch of rain was recorded in six hours and a tornado touched down 40 miles to the northeast. Another funnel cloud was sighted southwest of Aberdeen. No damage was reported.

More than an inch of rain drenched Vero Beach and nearby Cocoa Beach, along the east central coast of Florida.

Much of the nation had above-normal temperatures, although it was chilly in the Far Northwest.

U.S. Commanders See Victory Ahead in War

Councilman Says Hiring Special Police Is Illegal

Circleville City Council was told during Tuesday's regular semi-monthly meeting that the hiring of special police by the city was illegal.

Frank Barnhill Jr., chairman of the finance committee, said the issue had been "very strongly pointed out" to his committee by a state examiner along with the city auditor, service director, chief of police and the mayor.

Barnhill asked that council take action to "straighten out" the situation. At the present time there are four men employed by the city under the title of "special police." The matter is expected to come under consideration in the fall after the state examiner's report is filed here.

Barnhill also indicated the tentative budget for 1967 would be submitted to council at the next meeting. He noted that the city has an anticipated income of "a little more than $300,000 for next year" with about $200,000 of the total earmarked for payroll.

The 27 acres will be subdivided into 74 lots for residential dwellings. Ankrom has also requested rezoning of an area containing lots 8-14 on the proposed plat. The area is directly across from apartment buildings on the west side of Nicholas Drive and if Ankrom's request is granted it will allow him to build apartments.

The plat, prepared by the Columbus firm of Burgess and Niple, has also included a 10-foot allowance for the possibility of widening and improving Nicholas Drive. Smallest of the lots as provided in the plat would be 90 feet by 130 feet.

In other action, E. R. Bennett, a local realtor employed by council for securing easements in Storm Sewer District No. 1, reported that all property owners he had approached "were very co-operative."

BENNETT has been contacting northend property owners effected by the construction of the sewer project requesting assessments. He is to meet with Joe Bell and members of the Service committee on Friday morning to review provisions made by each of the property owners.

An ordinance was approved, under suspension of rules, for abandoning a portion of Lone Trail St. Being vacated is the section from Cedar Heights Road to the south side of Edward Road and from the north side of Edward Road to the south side of Don Watt's property in the area.

The action was taken following a petition that was presented to council and signed by property owners of land in the immediate vicinity requesting the street be vacated.

City fathers went on record as approving the use of parking meter posts by the American Legion for installing flag pole brackets. The local legion post started the program earlier this month whereby they erect the American Flag on the meter posts through contracts with downtown businessmen. Flags and brackets are installed by the legion on eight holidays during the year when the flag is to be flown. (Continued on Page 2)

Reporter Tells of Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reporter for a suburban Cleveland newspaper told two Ohio congressmen Tuesday that his car was burned twice and his wife's car once after he wrote a series of articles about the Ku Klux Klan.

"A lot of young guys will die today in a stinking jungle to protect our American way of life," said Tom Shaughnessy, 32, of the Lakewood Sun-Herald. "I for one am not going to let them take it away here at home."

Shaughnessy told his story to Reps. William E. Minshall and John M. Ashbrook, Ohio Republicans, and Donald T. Appell, chief investigator of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

He said his family cars were burned April 23, May 12 and June 6 and added that he, his wife and two children, aged 2 years and 8 months, have since moved from their eastside home.

GI Pay Hike Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pay increase for U.S. servicemen averaging 3.2 per cent reportedly has cleared a major congressional hurdle.

Details of the military pay boost were expected to be announced today by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., House Armed Services Committee chairman.

Chiefs List Plus Factors

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. commanders are guardedly confident that the tide of war in Viet Nam is running in favor of the allies.

They feel they can smash a Communist monsoon offensive if there is one.

Their optimism stems largely from military successes of the past three months, a time when South Viet Nam was wracked with political turmoil and crack Vietnamese fighting units were pulled out of the line.

But some observers contend that American commanders are making the same mistake the French made before their defeat here in 1954. They say the French thought they could win if the Vietnamese fought on French terms, but the Communists pursued their own form of guerrilla fighting in a war that was as much political as military.

The guarded U.S. optimism stems from these factors:

1. The United States and its allies have clearly seized the initiative and are seeking out the enemy in ever-increasing offensives. In on recent week record high of 39 search-and-destroy sweeps by 1,000 troops or more. Of these, U. S. forces launched 25.

Nearly all of these will be combat forces rather than logistic or support troops. The Australians have just finished increasing their force from 1,500 to 4,500. White Man Wounded in Dixie Fuss

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Highway patrolmen sealed off a small Negro neighborhood early today after Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire in Philadelphia. One white man was wounded late Tuesday night.

The gun battles erupted here as civil rights leaders 75 miles away debated the merits of violence and nonviolence when they returned to Philadelphia as part of the Mississippi march.

Philadelphia Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart, an employee of a glove factory, was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the Freedom Democratic party headquarters.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital here and sent home.

The highway patrol moved in and blocked off a three or four block area.

Negroes inside the Freedom Democrat headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them.

Dominicans Seeking Exit Of Inter-American Gls

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican government is seeking an urgent meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers to set the date for the Inter-American Peace Force to start leaving.

Official sources said Dominican Foreign Minister Carlos Federico Perez summoned the Latin-American diplomatic corps Tuesday night to ask for a meeting in Washington Friday for the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources expressed doubt the ministers could or would meet on such short notice. They believed that Provisional President Hector Garcia Godoy knew this but wanted to put his effort on the record. Garcia-Godoy has been mentioned as a presidential possibility in 1970.

The decision by the provisional government was believed to have the approval of President elect Joaquin Balaguer. Garcia-Godoy and his cabinet met with top officials of Balaguer's Reformist party Tuesday.

The six-nation peace force was created in May 1965 by the foreign ministers of the OAS nations after the United States sent 18,000 troops to the Dominican Republic to stop the April 1965 rebellion. The United States has about 6,800 men in the force, and there are about 1,200 Latin Americans.

The nations with troops in the force—the United States, Brazil, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras and Paraguay—have proposed to the OAS that the foreign ministers agree on a withdrawal date after the new Dominican government is installed July 1.

It is known that Balaguer is not anxious for full immediate withdrawal of the force. Garcia-Godoy, however, has expressed belief that the Dominican armed forces and police are capable of handling any internal security problem.

U.S. Draft Chief Opposes Lottery Selection Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today it is an illusion to believe that a lottery method could solve any problems of the system of drafting youths for military service.

He said the gravest weakness of such a system would be "the substitution of chance for judgment."

Hershey was the first witness as the House Armed Services Committee opened hearings on how the Selective Service System is operating. Committee Chairman L. Mendell Rivers D-S.C., has described the Selective Service as an "unpleasant fact of life that can not be wished away."

Both Rivers and Hershey had prepared statements to read at the opening hearing which started before a standing-room only crowd liberally sprinkled with college students.

Rivers, in his opening remarks, raised the possibility of lowering the upper limit of direct draft liability from the present 26. Men who get deferments now remain liable for service up to 35 but few over 26 get called.

Hershey, who has headed the Selective Service for 25 years, traced the history of the draft and defended deferment policy powers granted to local boards.

"So long as we recognize the wisdom of allocating our manpower resources to support to the greatest possible degree both our armed forces and our national economy, we should also recognize the wisdom of approaching this allocation problem with the best judgment we can muster rather than by chance," Hershey said.

The hearings follow recent calls by congressmen, educators and others for a review of draft methods.

Some have said the system discriminates against the poor who can not afford to go to college, by permitting deferments for students.

Hershey noted these complaints and said such criticisms are not new.

He noted current criticism of use of class ranking and tests for college students, saying both systems were regularly used to guide local boards in deferment decisions from the Korean War until 1963, when they were dropped.

Hershey said these criteria never have been intended to be the sole measuring stick of a deferment.

Arabia King Continues His Visit in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia addressed a luncheon sponsored by Washington news correspondents today and continues conferences with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The king arrived in the capital Tuesday for a three-day stay as part of his 10-day state visit. He received a booming, 21-gun salute on the White House lawn, then joined Johnson in an air-conditioned limousine for a parade through downtown Washington.

After a White House dinner Tuesday night, the king was saluted with a brilliant red, white and blue display of aerial fireworks and the martial music of bands marching on the flood-lit lawn.

In a toast at the stag dinner, Johnson praised Faisal as "a great ruler, a wise statesman and a warm friend." The king responded by calling the President "a man of good intentions, great personality and integrity."

Earlier, Faisal and Johnson had conferred for two hours. Spokesmen said the discussion ranged from the world situation, including Viet Nam, to the economic and development programs in the two countries.

Faisal flies to New York Thursday for a week of conferences with government and business leaders.

Lima Newspaper Forced To Cease Publication

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Lima Star ceased publication today after slightly more than nine months of operation.

The Star's board of directors said after a meeting Tuesday night it could reach no other decision because of continuing financial difficulties with the newspaper publication which began last Sept. 8.

Crime Rate Climb Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts put their heads together today in search of space-age methods to combat the nation's swelling crime rate.

Some 500 educators, industry experts and law enforcement officials have been invited to a first-of-its-kind "national symposium on science and criminal justice."

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, cosponsor of the conference, said its purpose is "to give science a clear view of what new tools and techniques are needed in the national effort to improve the control of crime."

The ideas generated in the two-day assembly at the State Department probably will be scrutinized by the National Crime Commission, of which Katzenbach is chairman.

The commission, the Justice Department and the President's Office of Science and Technology are cosponsoring the conference in affiliation with the National Security Industrial Association.

The association is a nonprofit organization of more than 400 American firms that supply goods and services to the Defense Department and other government agencies.

DeGaulle, Soviet Views On Viet War Said 'Similar'

MOSCOW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle discussed the war in Viet Nam with Communist chief Leonid I. Brezhnev today and French sources reported their views were similar.

The informants said De Gaulle was critical of U.S. policy on Viet Nam while Brezhnev accused the United States of savage aggression.

The French sources said the two leaders "noted the convergence of their points of view on the Viet Nam situation."

They also reviewed Soviet-French relations in the economic, cultural and scientific fields, the sources said. This reportedly included reference to agreements on joint space ventures and technical cooperation which were worked out in advance of De Gaulle's visit.

He arrived here Monday and held formal conferences with Soviet leaders in the Kremlin Tuesday and today.

Earlier French sources said differing viewpoints had slowed up the opening round Tuesday.

"When we talk about easing of tensions, they talk about security," one French informant complained.

De Gaulle sat down in the Kremlin today for another session.

School Bus Makers Get 2nd Chance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State school officials Tuesday gave bus body makers a second chance to submit bids under a state plan for cooperative bidding on school bus purchases.

A second round of bid openings was set for July 6. At the first openings Monday, body makers submitted no bids. Only eight bids were submitted, all from chassis manufacturers and dealers.

State Attorney General William B. Saxbe said the body makers "demonstrated their arrogance" in boycotting the bid openings. He said he was checking for possible violations of federal and state anti-trust laws.

School officials had hoped to receive bids on bodies and complete buses so state ceiling prices could be determined to guide in distribution of a $5 million bus purchase subsidy approved by the General Assembly last year.

They said the chassis bids submitted were $1,000 to $1,500 lower than prices asked last year, but that lack of other bids may delay delivery of buses to local school districts this fall.

Storms, Rain Strike Dakota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Electrical storms accompanied by heavy rain and a couple of funnel clouds struck eastern South Dakota late Tuesday night, and an inch or more of rain soaked parts of Florida.

In less than an hour, Turon, S.D., received more than 1.5 inches of rain along with hail.

At Aberdeen, S.D., two-thirds of an inch of rain was recorded in six hours and a tornado touched down 40 miles to the northeast. Another funnel cloud was sighted southwest of Aberdeen. No damage was reported.

More than an inch of rain drenched Vero Beach and near-by Cocoa Beach, along the east central coast of Florida.

Much of the nation had above-normal temperatures, although it was chilly in the Far Northwest.

U.S. Commanders See Victory Ahead in War

Councilman Says Hiring Special Police Is Illegal

Circleville City Council was told Tuesday's regular semi-monthly meeting that the hiring of special police by the city was illegal.

Frank Barnhill Jr., chairman of the finance committee, said the issue had been "very strongly pointed out" to his committee by a state examiner along with the city auditor, service director, chief of police and the mayor.

Barnhill asked that council take action to "straighten out" the situation. At the present time there are four men employed by the city under the title of "special police." The matter is expected to come under consideration in the fall after the state examiner's report is filed here.

Barnhill also indicated the tentative budget for 1967 would be submitted to council at the next meeting. He noted that the city has an anticipated income of "a little more than $300,000 for next year" with about $200,000 of the total earmarked for payroll.

Once Around Roundtown

FIRST day of summer was a scorcher . . . Official mid-afternoon temperature yesterday was 91 degrees although some individuals in the area reported highs of 94-95 degrees . . . Warm temperatures carried over into the evening hours. Noticing the heat, more than the average person, were officers of BPO Elks who were decked out in formal attire for an initiation program . . . Fourth Ward Councilman John Simison, however, showed up at the regular session of city council last night wearing knee-length shorts.

Simison, rationalizing his garb, said he had "just returned from a baseball game."

Reporter Tells of Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reporter for a suburban Cleveland newspaper told two Ohio congressmen Tuesday that his car was burned twice and his wife's car once after he wrote a series of articles about the Ku Klux Klan.

"A lot of young guys will die today in a stinking jungle to protect our American way of life," said Tom Shaughnessy, 32, of the Lakewood Sun-Herald. "I for one am not going to let them take it away here at home."

Shaughnessy told his story to Reps. William E. Minshall and John M. Ashbrook, Ohio Republicans, and Donald T. Appell, chief investigator of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

He said his family cars were burned April 23, May 12 and June 6 and added that he, his wife and two children, aged 2 years and 8 months, have since moved from their eastside home.

GI Pay Hike Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pay increase for U.S. servicemen averaging 3.2 per cent reportedly has cleared a major congressional hurdle.

Sources said Senate-House conferees reached tentative agreement Tuesday on the increase for some 3 million persons now on active military duty or in other uniformed services.

Details of the military pay boost were expected to be announced today by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., House Armed Services Committee chairman.

junction of Route 188 (Northridge Road) and Nicholas Drive. Efforts will be made to put the light in operation before the new high school opens in the vicinity in September. Another traffic light is being proposed at Clark Drive and Nicholas Drive.

Preliminary plat for subdividing 27 acres bordering Nicholas Drive was also submitted for city council consideration last night. Dale Ankrom, owner of the land, said the plat had been approved by the Zoning and Planning Commission on Monday.

The 27 acres will be subdivided into 74 lots for residential dwellings. Ankrom has also requested rezoning of an area containing lots 8-14 on the proposed plat. The area is directly across from apartment buildings on the west side of Nicholas Drive and if Ankrom's request is granted it will allow him to build apartments.

The plat, prepared by the Columbus firm of Burgess and Niple, has also included a 10-foot allowance for the possibility of widening and improving Nicholas Drive. Smallest of the lots as provided in the plat would be 90 feet by 130 feet.

In other action, E. R. Bennett, a local realtor employed by council for securing easements in Storm Sewer District No. 1, reported that all property owners he had approached "were very co-operative."

BENNETT has been contacting northend property owners effected by the construction of the sewer project requesting assessments. He is to meet with Joe Bell and members of the Service committee on Friday morning to review provisions made by each of the property owners.

An ordinance was approved, under suspension of rules, for abandoning a portion of Lone Trail St. Being vacated is the section from Cedar Heights Road to the south side of Edward Road and from the north side of Edward Road to the south side of Don Watt's property in the area.

The action was taken following a petition that was presented to council and signed by property owners of land in the immediate vicinity requesting the street be vacated.

City fathers went on record as approving the use of parking meter posts by the American Legion for installing flag pole brackets. The local legion post started the program earlier this month whereby they erect the American Flag on the meter posts through contracts with downtown businessmen. Flags and brackets are installed by the legion on eight holidays during the year when the flag is to be flown. (Continued on Page 2)

Dominicans Seeking Exit Of Inter-American GIs

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican government is seeking an urgent meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers to set the date for the Inter-American Peace Force to start leaving.

Official sources said Dominican Foreign Minister Carlos Federico Perez summoned the Latin-American diplomatic corps Tuesday night to ask for a meeting in Washington Friday for the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources expressed doubt the ministers could or would meet on such short notice. They believed that Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy knew this but wanted to put his effort on the record. Garcia-Godoy has been mentioned as a presidential possibility in 1970.

The decision by the provisional government was believed to have the approval of President elect Joaquin Balaguer. Garcia-

Godoy and his cabinet met with top officials of Balaguer's Reformist party Tuesday.

The six-nation peace force was created in May 1965 by the foreign ministers of the OAS nations after the United States sent 18,000 troops to the Dominican Republic to stop the April 1965 rebellion. The United States has about 6,800 men in the force, and there are about 1,200 Latin Americans.

The nations with troops in the force—the United States, Brazil, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras and Paraguay—have proposed to the OAS that the foreign ministers agree on a withdrawal date after the new Dominican government is installed July 1.

It is known that Balaguer is not anxious for full immediate withdrawal of the force. Garcia-Godoy, however, has expressed belief that the Dominican armed forces and police are capable of handling any internal security problem.

GOP Dexterity Is Noted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are trying hard to ignore individual differences over prime political issues in their effort to present a united front in the fall election campaign.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., demonstrated this kind of dexterity when he announced he is going to campaign for the Republican ticket in Illinois.

Topping the ticket is Charles Percy, Chicago industrialist, as the party's senatorial nominee.

Percy has given his support to an "open housing" provision of the Johnson's administration's civil rights bill.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, contends that the provision, which would ban discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, is unconstitutional.

Asked about Republicans who are backing the housing provision, Dirksen said they are "misguided." But he amended that to say that "they haven't got complete information."

Queried about Percy's stand, Dirksen replied "I have no responsibility for it." He went on to say, however, that Percy is "a fine, knowledgeable young man" he is convinced will defeat Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas' bid for re-election.

Chiefs List Plus Factors

Reds' Monsoon Drive Awaited

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. commanders are guardedly confident that the tide of war in Viet Nam is running in favor of the allies.

They feel they can smash a Communist monsoon offensive if there is one.

Their optimism stems largely from military successes of the past three months, a time when South Viet Nam was wracked with political turmoil and crack Vietnamese fighting units were pulled out of the line.

But some observers contend that American commanders are making the same mistake the French made before their defeat here in 1954. They say the French thought they could win if the Vietnamese fought on French terms, but the Communists pursued their own form of guerrilla fighting in a war that was as much political as military.

The guarded U.S. optimism stems from these factors:

1. The United States and its allies have clearly seized the initiative and are seeking out the enemy in ever-increasing offensives. In on recent week record high of 39 search-and-destroy sweeps by 1,000 troops or more. Of these, U. S. forces launched 25.
2. The massive buildup of allied forces continues. The United States has 270,000 troops here and expects to add 100,000 more before the end of the year. Nearly all of these will be combat forces rather than logistic or support troops. The Australians have just finished increasing their force from 1,500 to 4,500. The South Koreans have nearly 25,000 men now and will add 17,000 more by August. The (Continued on Page 2)

White Man Wounded in Dixie Fuss

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Highway patrolmen sealed off a small Negro neighborhood early today after Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire in Philadelphia. One white man was wounded late Tuesday night.

The gun battles erupted here as civil rights leaders 75 miles away debated the merits of violence and nonviolence when they returned to Philadelphia as part of the Mississippi march.

Philadelphia Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart, an employee of a glove factory, was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the Freedom Democratic party headquarters.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital here and sent home.

The highway patrol moved in and blocked off a three or four block area.

Negroes inside the Freedom Democrat headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them.

ment on the declaration of House GOP Leader Gerald Ford that the conflict in Viet Nam is "President Johnson's war."

This was reminiscent of the action of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in 1951 in hanging the label of "President Truman's war" on the Korean conflict. The Republicans used that slogan effectively in the 1952 presidential campaign.

But Dirksen, who has supported the President's Viet Nam course while Ford was criticizing it, wasn't tempted.

"I have not called it that," he replied quietly.

NEW YORK (AP) —Just as housewives have periodic fits of housecleaning, so should a man now and then sift through his day-dreams.

Some he will wish to keep in mind, some put away in mothballs for a time, and some discard forever with the rest of yesterday's rubbish.

And, of course, as he goes along he'll want to add to his warehouse of daydreams to keep his stock fresh and new. Life is sorry when one's supply of daydreams become threadbare.

Looking over my present inventory of unfulfilled goals, I find I'd still like to—Go on a real African safari and bring back as my only hunting trophy a stuffed mouse.

Invent a telephone that would froth at its mouthpiece and snap at the ear of any teen-ager who approached it.

See if I could hypnotize a cobra by playing it a long-playing record by the Beatles.

Develop a slot machine that would take free souvenir snapshots — so the suckers would at least get something for their money.

Come up with an "unfixable" golf ball that would automatically add up how many times it had actually been hit, moved, or surreptitiously kicked during a game.

Meet an income tax collector who couldn't stand the sight of human suffering.

Come across a dietetic gravy that tastes like the kind mother used to make but attacks and destroys all calories the moment it hits the stomach.

Improve the public welfare by distributing free to pedestrians a horn that would break the eardrums of noisy motorists.

Fiance all trips to the moon by selling tickets in a worldwide lottery.

Have science invent polka-dotted mustard and catsup so that when a fellow came home after eating hot dogs at a ball game his neckties would look more interesting.

Create a little more realism in Hollywood's annual awards by presenting an Oscar for the most wooden performance of the year — the judging to be done by a panel of professional termines.

Make it illegal for any woman over 30 to appear on a public beach unless she also wore spats.

If daydreams like these came true, now wouldn't life be more wonderful for us all?

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Builders of homes contend they're the first victims of tight money. Consumers who buy on the installment plan might be the second. And some businessmen say they're worried lest their plans for expansion be cramped.

But supporters of the policy to fight inflation by holding a tight rein on credit doubt it there'll be any great or lasting deterrent in the plans of many now regarded as possible victims.

The theory is that tight credit in itself isn't the sole cause for the home building downturn. Nor does today's moderate curb on credit seem likely to inhibit consumer spending or business plans. Other factors usually weigh much more with consumers and corporate directors than does the amount of interest charges. And if credit is tight, many have savings or other assets upon which to draw.

But even the staunchest defenders of monetary restraint don't deny that someone is likely to get hurt.

And home builders have the statistics right now that seems to back their contentions that their industry is suffering.

The Commerce Department says that in May, when money was noticeably tightening, the starting of new homes dropped by 13 per cent. This brought it to the lowest rate since January 1963.

The housing industry had been having its troubles for at least two years, with only an occasional upswing that turned out to be temporary. It still expects another push upward when the big crop of postwar babies marries, starts families — and commands the income to pay for new homes, however humble. Some in the industry had felt that the big postwar demand for housing had been met and that the last two years of quiet was only a normal prelude to the expected pickup in the next few years.

What is worrying some of the public is whether all the talk about tight money and maybe higher taxes to beat inflation really means that the economy is in danger. Put specifically, they're wondering about their jobs, their paychecks, and about all the uncertainties which the speedup in the Viet Nam war implies.

The stock market's hesitancy also probably deters as many people from taking on new financial obligations as does any tightness in money and credit.

The monetary authorities wouldn't have put the moderately tighter money policy into effect if they hadn't wanted it to choke off some of the more risky loans, and to cool down some of the speculative fever.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE CLOSING of the Nepperhan telephone exchange near Yonkers, New York, reports Beth Day, caused some temporary confusion. When one subscriber asked for "Nepperhan 4508," only to be told "Nepperhan is now obsolete," she agreed amiably, "All right, give me Obsolete 4508."

A Baptist congregation in Arkansas turned out en masse to hear a sermon by a parson from Louisiana who was reputed to be a humdinger. He lived up to his advance notices, too. At the conclusion of his rousing talk, the leading citizen of the town pumped his hand vigorously and exclaimed, "Parson, we just didn't know what sin was in this community till you made it all clear to us this morning!"

What is meant by kidney failure?

Can polyps develop in other parts of the body besides the nose?

Polyps are tumors. Usually they are benign (non-cancerous). They are found in the nose as a result of chronic infections and allergies.

They can form in the bladder and in the intestinal tract.

Most polyps are attached by a fine strand of tissue to the inner lining of the cavity in which they are found. In the bladder and in the intestines the first sign of their existence might be slight bleeding. This indicates the need for examination in order to find the exact position of the polyp and to study the tissue under a microscope.

Occasionally, chronic irritation and inflammation of a polyp may produce changes that indicate the need for surgical removal.

How can bed sores be avoided in people who are confined to bed for a long time?

The blood circulation of people, especially the elderly, is reduced by the inactivity of lying in bed for a long time. Bed sores, or pressure sores, tend to develop over the hips, buttocks, shoulders and heels.

These are the pressure bearing parts of the body in a bedridden patient. When these sores become infected they can severely complicate the illness that confines the patient to bed.

Patients should be turned from side-to-side at very frequent intervals. Rubber rings, foam rubber and air cushions should be used to protect the body at the pressure points.

Meticulous cleanliness is most important. The body should be sponged, not rubbed with a gentle soap and warm water. Lubricating oils softly rubbed into the skin is beneficial. Sheets should not be washed with harsh chemicals.

The creases of the skin should be dried and powdered to keep moisture from accumulating. If an area of redness appears on the skin surface, that part of the body must be protected so that the skin does not break down and cause ulcers, bed-sores and infections.

"Your Assurance of Quality"

Will success spoil Rock Hunter? Has success spoiled NATO? The hints are in the air, and not only because of President de Gaulle's intransigence about giving the NATO High Command the old leave - no from French territory. The Belgians don't seem to be very happy about accepting transfer of NATO military headquarters to their soil. And from eastern Europe comes the voice of the serpent, tempting the West to eat of forbidden fruit. President (for life) Tito attacks all military groupings, suggesting that if NATO were to go, then the "equal and opposite" Warsaw Pact would disappear, too. The Rumanians say this is what they meant all along when they were denouncing the quartering of troops on foreign territory. Meanwhile, in this atmosphere, de Gaulle goes to Moscow. Heaven only knows what he will be proposing, but it is ominous that he felt he had to slap at NATO as a preparation for his mission to the East.

The recent hearings on the Atlantic Alliance, held before Senator Henry Jackson's subcommittee on national security, have positively dripped with autumnal feelings. After former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's appearance, Senator Jackson said, "Mr. Secretary, it has been like old times having you with us." Old times indeed! Acheson was hopeful for the future, but his sense of realism kept breaking through. "What has happened in Europe, the very success of our policy," he said, "has led to the belief in Europe that prosperity is power. Of course, these are very different things."

In New York, the book publishing firm of Random House compounds the autumnal feeling by putting out a tome by Richard J. Barnet and Marcus G. Raskin, co-directors of the Institute for Policy Studies, called "After Twenty Years: The Decline of NATO and the Search for a New Policy in Europe." A Soviet attack on western Europe, the authors say, is no longer credible; therefore, we cannot maintain an Atlantic Alliance based on that threat. What NATO does, so it is contended is to foster the notion among the eastern nations that the wealthy countries of the West are maintaining a rich man's club. This supposedly arouses poor nations to thinking they must acquire their own atomic potential.

But if NATO were to go, what then? It would certainly be every nation for itself in western Europe. The Germans would want their share of nuclear military power. The French, worried about nationalism beyond the Rhine, would look to the east for "balance."

Would this mean less tension in Europe, or more? Remembering that this is the sort of "balance" we had in 1914 and in the Nineteen Thirties doesn't the question answer itself?

Thinking back, there was the time, after the success of Washington's army at Yorktown, when the young American confederation, victorious over Britain, started to fall apart. A wary group of patriots, led by Washington, Franklin, Madison, Hamilton, and John Jay, watched with uneasiness the ruin of some of the state currencies, and the tendency of New York and Pennsylvania, for example, to treat New Jersey as "a barrel tapped at both ends." The patriots watched, too, as Britain, France, and Spain began eyeing the colonies' territory with a thought of picking up the pieces. But when things were darkest, a convention was held at Philadelphia.

The analogy between 1787 and 1966 does not necessarily hold in all respects, for western Europe is still sticking to its common market ideas, and de Gaulle, though he has denounced NATO as a specific way of organizing a defense, has not broken with the North Atlantic Alliance. But it is nonetheless a curious fact that, at this moment of low ebb for the spirit of western unity, the plan offered by Clarence Streit that indefatigable champion of a North Atlantic federation formed on the model of the U.S.A., is enjoying a spate of new popularity. Even the "Nationalist" Barry Goldwater is for it. Representative Paul Findley of Illinois reports that some forty-five per cent of the people in his Middle Western Congressional district are for turning the Atlantic Alliance into a federalized system. Thirty-five per cent of Mr. Findley's sample held no opinion, and only some twenty per cent were against the idea.

Is Clarence Streit's day coming? Not unless western Europe decides to take his idea seriously. But it would be interesting to know what a Findley-type questionnaire would turn up in the NATO nations.

NEW YORK (AP) — Just as housewives have periodic fits of housecleaning, so should a man now and then sift through his day-dreams.

Some he will wish to keep in mind, some put away in mothballs for a time, and some discard forever with the rest of yesterday's rubbish.

And, of course, as he goes along he'll want to add to his warehouse of daydreams to keep his stock fresh and new. Life is sorry when one's supply of daydreams become threadbare.

Looking over my present inventory of unfulfilled goals, I find I'd still like to—Go on a real African safari and bring back as my only hunting trophy a stuffed mouse.

Invent a telephone that would froth at its mouthpiece and snap at the ear of any teen-ager who approached it.

See if I could hypnotize a cobra by playing it a long-playing record by the Beatles.

Develop a slot machine that would take free souvenir snapshots — so the suckers would at least get something for their money.

Come up with an "unfixable" golf ball that would automatically add up how many times it had actually been hit, moved, or surreptitiously kicked during a game.

Meet an income tax collector who couldn't stand the sight of human suffering.

Come across a dietetic gravy that tastes like the kind mother used to make but attacks and destroys all calories the moment it hits the stomach.

Improve the public welfare by distributing free to pedestrians

a horn that would break the eardrums of noisy motorists.

Fiance all trips to the moon by selling tickets in a worldwide lottery.

Have science invent polka-dot-colored mustard and catsup so that when a fellow came home after eating hot dogs at a ball game his neckties would look more interesting.

Create a little more realism in Hollywood's annual awards by presenting an Oscar for the most wooden performance of the year — the judging to be done by a panel of professional termines.

Make it illegal for any woman over 30 to appear on a public beach unless she also wore spats.

If daydreams like these came true, now wouldn't life be more wonderful for us all?

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Builders of homes contend they're the first victims of tight money. Consumers who buy on the installment plan might be the second. And some businessmen say they're worried lest their plans for expansion be cramped.

But supporters of the policy to fight inflation by holding a tighter rein on credit doubt it there'll be any great or lasting deterrent in the plans of many now regarded as possible victims.

The theory is that tight credit in itself isn't the sole cause for the home building downturn. Nor does today's moderate curb on credit seem likely to inhibit consumer spending or business plans. Other factors usually weigh much more with consumers and corporate directors than does the amount of interest charges. And if credit is tight, many have savings or other assets upon which to draw.

THE CLOSING of the Nepperhan telephone exchange near Yonkers, New York, reports Beth Day, caused some temporary confusion. When one subscriber asked for "Nepperhan 4508," only to be told "Nepperhan is now obsolete," she agreed amiably, "All right, give me Obsolete 4508."

A Baptist congregation in Arkansas turned out en masse to hear a sermon by a parson from Louisiana who was reputed to be a humdinger. He lived up to his advance notices, too. At the conclusion of his rousing talk, the leading citizen of the town pumped his hand vigorously and exclaimed, "Parson, we just didn't know what sin was in this community till you made it all clear to us this morning!"

California Plans No Curbs on Population

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's booming population some day may mean standing room only amid gray, sooty smog, but state officials report no plans to charge anyone admission.

A report released Sunday by a research group in Washington, D.C., quoted suggestions that California charge a tax on new arrivals and curb planning of new highways, industries and water supplies.

"You can discourage population by planning the worst school system in the nation," comments Dr. Leslie E. Car-

bert, state planning officer. "But that is ridiculous."

"How can you tax people for migrating within the United States?" asked Walter P. Hollmann, chief of the state's population research. "That would be thrown out of the lowest court in the land."

The crew-cut Hollmann works in a windowless office in the state library.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown once joked about barricading the borders against migrants but he has asked his staff to ready the state to make room for millions more. Plans must consider everything from sewers to universities.

Hollmann didn't argue with figures published by Robert C. Cook, president of Population Reference Bureau, Inc., that California's net gain of 1,500 new residents a day may mean 1.5 billion people — half the world's current population — in 100 years.

"But any Californian can quarrel with his conclusions," Hollmann added. California's current estimated population is slightly more than 19 million, largest in the nation.

From stormy Watts in Los Angeles to the quiet northern redwoods, much of the current planning to cope with a growing population seems to be racing with no finish line in sight.

Some of the programs include:

—The $2-billion state water project, approved by voters in 1960 to bring water from wet northern California to the arid south through 1990.

—The master plan for higher education, designed to expand the 18 state colleges and nine University of California branches with new campuses to handle hundreds of thousands of students.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to pin a flat across-the-board liberal or conservative label on the nine Supreme Court justices for their work in the term which ended Monday is like trying to squeeze jelly.

They split ranks repeatedly and shifted around.

These five men — Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Abe Fortas — have been bracketed together as liberals.

This would seem to give the liberal viewpoint a 5-4 majority over the justices who have been labeled conservative: John M. Harlan, Byron R. White, Potter Stewart and Tom C. Clark.

And this would have been the case, if it had worked out that way. But it didn't. The liberals voted as a block more often than the conservatives but there was otherwise a mish-mash.

In 18 major cases, which this writer picked from the court's decisions in the 1965-66 term to get an insight into how the justices stood, here were some of the results:

The conservatives voted unanimously against a decision of the liberals only twice. Four times they voted unanimously with the liberals who, for their part, voted unanimously only eight times out of 18.

But six times the conservatives voted unanimously in joining one or more liberals in making up a majority necessary to give a decision.

In the 18 decisions the greatest dissenter was Black who has been considered an extremely consistent liberal from away back. Some liberals may consider his dissents this year in the best liberal tradition.

But that judgment depends on who is doing the considering. For instance, was it in the liberal tradition for Black to vote with Harlan and Stewart against the court's 6-3 decision banning the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in state elections?

But Douglas, another longstanding liberal, dissented six times, five times side by side with Black, but not joining him against three other decisions, including the poll tax ban.

The voting of Clark may surprise many who thought they had him safely tucked away in their minds in a conservative niche. He dissented only twice from the majority decision, the same number of dissents Warren and Fortas gave.

Brennan was on the majority side more often than any justice on the court, dissenting only once, and that was against the majority decision which said that only in limited circumstances could arrested civil rights workers have their case shifted from state to federal courts.

In this dissent, a blow to civil rights workers, Brennan was joined by Warren, Douglas and Fortas, while Black teamed up with Harlan, Stewart, White and Clark to make the majority decision.

Besides his dissent in the civil rights workers' case, Warren dissented against a majority vote that federal labor law does not bar libel suits seeking money damage under state law for organizing campaign. Fortas' two dissents were the same as Warren's.

Whether White will ever take a position that will give him a fair and fixed title as liberal or conservative is far from clear yet. He's been a pretty independent spirit. He had three dissents.

Clark, with only two dissents out of the 18 cases examined, could hardly fit into a conservative jacket. Fortas, new on the bench this past term, on his record this year belongs in the liberal grouping.

Harlan and Stewart were the most conservative but their decisions were not rigidly conservative.

Food Prices Drop, Braking Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices dropped six-tenths of one per cent last month, holding over-all living costs to a rise of only one-tenth of one per cent, the Labor Department said Tuesday.

It was the first sign of a slowdown in the sharp price increases of the past several months.

The increase in over-all living costs boosted the government's consumer price index to 112.6, meaning that it cost $11.26 to purchase items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The increase in May was caused primarily by higher costs of home ownership, furniture, medical care and women's clothing, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

"The most significant increases were for mortgage interest rates doctors' and dentists' fees, hospital service charges, domestic service, house repairs, and barber and beauty shops," the bureau reported.

The sharp drop in food prices was the first decline in eight months, the bureau said.

One year ago — Despite large, disorderly demonstrations in the capitals of both countries, Japan and South Korea established full diplomatic relations. It climaxed 14 years of negotiations.

Senate Panel OKs Tough Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee unanimously approved Tuesday an auto safety bill requiring mandatory federal standards for U.S. and foreign cars, trucks, buses and motor scooters.

The secretary of commerce would be directed under the bill to set interim standards by Jan. 31, 1967, in the expectation that these would apply to 1968 model cars.

A year later, on Jan. 31, 1968, he would be required to prescribe the first permanent safety standards which would be revised and kept up to date every two years after that.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., described the bill as "much tougher" than the one originally proposed by President Johnson, and also the proposals made by auto manufacturers.

The President had sought only discretionary authority for the secretary to set standards.

Trespasser Hunters Are Caught by Trap

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Rancher Katsumi Arimura has been having a problem with trespassers on his field.

So he placed a board full of spikes across the road at the field entrance.

The first customers were Ventura County sheriff's deputies who drove into the field, turned around, started back to town — and listened as all four tires of their car went slowly, and steadily, flat.

The deputies were making a routine night check of the field.

California Plans No Curbs on Population

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's booming population some day may mean standing room only amid gray, sooty smog, but state officials report no plans to charge anyone admission.

A report released Sunday by a research group in Washington, D.C., quoted suggestions that California charge a tax on new arrivals and curb planning of new highways, industries and water supplies.

"You can discourage population by planning the worst school system in the nation," comments Dr. Leslie E. Carbert, state planning officer. "But that is ridiculous."

The crew-cut Hollmann works in a windowless office in the state library. Gov. Edmund G. Brown once joked about barricading the borders against migrants but he has asked his staff to ready the state to make room for millions more. Plans must consider everything from sewers to universities.

Hollmann didn't argue with figures published by Robert C. Cook, president of Population Reference Bureau, Inc., that California's net gain of 1,500 new residents a day may mean 1.5 billion people — half the world's current population — in 100 years.

"But any Californian can quarrel with his conclusions," Hollmann added. California's current estimated population is slightly more than 19 million, largest in the nation.

From stormy Watts in Los Angeles to the quiet northern redwoods, much of the current planning to cope with a growing population seems to be racing with no finish line in sight.

Some of the programs include: —The $2-billion state water project, approved by voters in 1960 to bring water from wet northern California to the arid south through 1990.

—The master plan for higher education, designed to expand the 18 state colleges and nine University of California branches with new campuses to handle hundreds of thousands of students.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., described the bill as "much tougher" than the one originally proposed by President Johnson, and also the proposals made by auto manufacturers.

The President had sought only discretionary authority for the secretary to set standards.

Senate Commerce Committee unanimously approved Tuesday an auto safety bill requiring mandatory federal standards for U.S. and foreign cars, trucks, buses and motor scooters.

The secretary of commerce would be directed under the bill to set interim standards by Jan. 31, 1967, in the expectation that these would apply to 1968 model cars.

A year later, on Jan. 31, 1968, he would be required to prescribe the first permanent safety standards which would be revised and kept up to date every two years after that.

Communications Union Recruiting Members

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, plans to double its membership by 1970. Joseph Beirne, international president, said the union now represents more than 400,000 persons employed in telephone communications and allied industries.

But that judgment depends on who is doing the considering. For instance, was it in the liberal tradition for Black to vote with Harlan and Stewart against the court's 6-3 decision banning the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in state elections?

But Douglas, another long-standing liberal, dissented six times, five times side by side with Black, but not joining him against three other decisions, including the poll tax ban.

The voting of Clark may surprise many who thought they had him safely tucked away in their minds in a conservative niche. He dissented only twice from the majority decision, the same number of dissents Warren and Fortas gave.

Brennan was on the majority side more often than any justice on the court, dissenting only once, and that was against the majority decision which said that only in limited circumstances could arrested civil rights workers have their case shifted from state to federal courts.

In this dissent, a blow to civil rights workers, Brennan was joined by Warren, Douglas and Fortas, while Black teamed up with Harlan, Stewart, White and Clark to make the majority decision.

Besides his dissent in the civil rights workers' case, Warren dissented against a majority vote that federal labor law does not bar libel suits seeking money damage under state law for organizing campaign. Fortas' two dissents were the same as Warren's.

Whether White will ever take a position that will give him a fair and fixed title as liberal or conservative is far from clear yet. He's been a pretty independent spirit. He had three dissents.

Clark, with only two dissents out of the 18 cases examined, could hardly fit into a conservative jacket. Fortas, new on the bench this past term, on his record this year belongs in the liberal grouping.

Harlan and Stewart were the most conservative but their decisions were not rigidly conservative.

Trespasser Hunters Are Caught by Trap OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Rancher Katsumi Arimura has been having a problem with trespassers on his field.

So he placed a board full of spikes across the road at the field entrance.

The first customers were Ventura County sheriff's deputies who drove into the field, turned around, started back to town — and listened as all four tires of their car went slowly, and steadily, flat.

The deputies were making a routine night check of the field.

Food Prices Drop, Braking Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices dropped six-tenths of one per cent last month, holding over-all living costs to a rise of only one-tenth of one per cent, the Labor Department said Tuesday.

It was the first sign of a slowdown in the sharp price increases of the past several months.

The increase in over-all living costs boosted the government's consumer price index to 112.6, meaning that it cost $11.26 to purchase items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The increase in May was caused primarily by higher costs of home ownership, furniture, medical care and women's clothing, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

"The most significant increases were for mortgage interest rates doctors' and dentists' fees, hospital service charges, domestic service, house repairs, and barber and beauty shops," the bureau reported.

The sharp drop in food prices was the first decline in eight months, the bureau said.

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television for several past seasons has resolutely brushed off the laments of its critics about the low estate and generally sabbat quality of many of its light "entertainment" shows and the almost total lack of serious drama beyond occasional feature films.

Now, it seems the networks are admitting — indirectly, of course — that perhaps the complaints have been based in truth. They want to do something about it — next season.

This new and sudden passion for drama with "meaning" and "significance" — two words being used a lot these days — bears some earmarks of a fad and now seems to be part of the three networks' continuing game of oneupmanship.

The game rises to a peak of activity when the living room screens are taking their summer siestas. This is when the big build-up starts toward next season's output.

Now the word "quality" has become as fashionable as the word "ratings" with the network executives. ABC perhaps made the opening move in quality oneupmanship with publicity about its forthcoming "Stage 67" anthology series.

Then CBS came along with its splendid production of "Death of a Salesman" and made another move by promising at least two more of similar substance next season. ABC countered with an announcement of a plan for two-hour dramatic productions on a monthly basis some time after the first of next year. NBC said it had signed Sidney Poitier to play "Othello."

CBS made another move in the game Tuesday by announcing it has set aside $500,000 "to encourage the writing of original dramas expressly for television." Writers who turn out material that CBS find to be "meaningful" and "significant" will be rewarded by payments up to $25,000 per script.

CBS commentator Eric Svarcid, recently returned from Viet Nam and other Southeast Asia countries, talked Tuesday night for almost half an hour about his impressions and opinions of the war there and America's involvement in it.

He had no answers to the great questions, but he raised questions around the questions unacknowledged spread of fighting by Americans outside Viet Nam borders, the way we are fighting the war. He disagreed with much of Washington's viewpoint, but he was neither optimistic nor yet despondent.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Friendly Fella May Get Worked Over

DEAR ABBY: I think my husband is entirely too friendly to strange women. For instance, he will bury his nose in an elevator operator's hair and say, "My, you have pretty hair—and it smells nice, too." Or he will compliment a waitress on her "beautiful legs" or "school-girl figure." When I tell him that it shows a lack of respect for me when he does this in my presence, he says he's only trying to make a poor working girl feel good. How do you feel about this sort of thing, Abby? Am I wrong to resent it?

FELLOW'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is ill-manner and presumptuous for a man to make personal remarks (complimentary or otherwise) to strange women in (or out of) his wife's presence. Tell your husband if he doesn't cut it out one of those poor working girls is apt to work him over.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful man, and our wedding date has been set for Sept. 18. My fiancé (I'll call him Marty) wants his brother (I'll call him Jack) to be his best man. Well, Jack lives out of state and his wife, Millie, is expecting around that time. Jack won't leave Millie, and Millie won't be able to travel then, so now I have a problem.

Marty's mother thinks we should postpone our wedding until December. Do you think it's fair to center our marriage around Jack and Millie? I always thought it was up to the bride to choose the wedding date.

UNHAPPY BRIDE
DEAR UNHAPPY: The bride selects the wedding date with an eye to the most convenient time for both families. But now that your date has been set, I agree it would indeed be a mess to change things now. So proceed with your plans, and ask your fiancé to select a next to the best man.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a sister-in-law who named their new dog after your son? And she let me know it, too. Her husband told her not to, but she went ahead and did it anyway.

DOG-GONE MAD
DEAR MAD: If she meant to be insulting, let her know you have a bone to pick with her. But if she was only trying to be "cute," don't banish her to the doghouse. I have had dogs, cats, mice, hamsters, pigs, parakeets, and monkeys named after me.

DEAR ABBY: As a service man, presently serving in Korea (but this applies to all service men serving overseas) I would appreciate it if you would drop this helpful hint to all families, friends, and relatives. Please ask them to send all their letters AIR MAIL. If a letter has only a 5-cent stamp, it takes more than 2 months to get to us because it goes by boat. Abby, I am sure the extra 3 cents isn't going to break anyone, and it sure means a lot to those of us who are 10,000 miles from home.

SGT. C.E.L.

Canton Coed Elected Girls State Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Martha Wasson of Canton, an all "A" student at Glenwood High School, will be installed tonight as 20th governor of Buckeye Girls State.

Miss Wasson was selected in close balloting Tuesday over Mary Ann Fearon of Strasburg, completing a sweep by her hometown for top spots in Girls State and its counterpart, Buckeye Boys State. John Arigoni of Canton served as governor of Boys State, which ended last week.

A member of the National Honor Society who finished in the upper 2 per cent of students taking the National Merit Scholarship qualifying tests, Miss Wasson will be installed by Judge C. William O'Neill of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The new governor of the "school in Americanism and government," sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Wasson.

The 1,227 residents of Girls State also elected Patricia Pense of Youngstown as lieutenant governor over Teresa Edgar of Columbus.

EDT, premiere of a variety show replacing Danny Kaye's hour for the summer. Kaye will be on the show plus Leslie Uggams and Chad Jeremy.

what is Coffee
Mill
Flavor?

It's fresh-ground flavor you can't get in a can.

Fresh-ground flavor you do get in A&P's whole-bean Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.

You see, once the coffee bean is ground, the flavor begins to fade.

That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find, we bring them to you still in the bean.

And we custom-grind them exactly right for your coffeemaker.

Takes a little extra work, but we're happy to do it.

That way we can be sure you'll enjoy the full, fresh taste of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.

Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P?
They're one of many.

bride to choose the wedding date. All my plans are set for September, and it would be a mess to change things now. What is your advice?

UNHAPPY BRIDE
DEAR UNHAPPY: The bride selects the wedding date with an eye to the most convenient time for both families. But now that your date has been set, I agree it would indeed be a mess to change things now. So proceed with your plans, and ask your fiancé to select a next to the best man.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a sister-in-law who named their new dog after your son? And she let me know it, too. Her husband told her not to, but she went ahead and did it anyway.

DOGGONE MAD
DEAR MAD: If she meant to be insulting, let her know you have a bone to pick with her. But if she was only trying to be "cute," don't banish her to the doghouse. I have had dogs, cats, mice, hamsters, pigs, parakeets, and monkeys named after me.

DEAR ABBY: As a service man, presently serving in Korea (but this applies to all service men serving overseas) I would appreciate it if you would drop this helpful hint to all families, friends, and relatives. Please ask them to send all their letters AIR MAIL. If a letter has only a 5-cent stamp, it takes more than 2 months to get to us because it goes by boat. Abby, I am sure the extra 3 cents isn't going to break anyone, and it sure means a lot to those of us who are 10,000 miles from home.

what is Coffee Mill Flavor?

It's fresh-ground flavor you can't get in a can.

Fresh-ground flavor you do get in A&P's whole-bean Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.

You see, once the coffee bean is ground, the flavor begins to fade.

That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find, we bring them to you still in the bean.

And we custom-grind them exactly right for your coffeemaker.

Takes a little extra work, but we're happy to do it.

That way we can be sure you'll enjoy the full, fresh taste of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.

Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

Little Big Horn Battle Fought 90 Years Ago

CROW AGENCY, Mont. (AP)—It was 90 years ago this week that the most famous and talked-about battle between Indians and the U.S. Army was fought in the valley of the Little Big Horn River in southern Montana.

Now the nation sends spacecraft to the planets but the years have seen little change for the green, rolling hills where Gen. George Armstrong Custer and his entire force of 262 men were annihilated June 25, 1876.

Only a cavalry officer's horse, Comanche, survived the massacre.

The site of the battle now is the Custer Battlefield National Monument. Atop the rolling hills is a national cemetery, where Custer's men lie beside victims of other wars.

The Crow Indian tribe will reenact the great battle in a week-end ceremony beginning Saturday. They will portray it from the Indians' point of view. The setting is about a mile from the actual battle site. The colorfully garbed Crow will ride into action against blue-clad cavalry.

They will portray the last great gathering of Indian warriors, determined to defend their homes and hunting grounds against the invading white man.

The museum on the battlefield, with its relics of the fight, and the small white markers which show where each man fell, fail to tell the total story of Custer's last stand. It may never be told completely.

Historians still argue about why Custer divided his command into three detachments and found only his segment battling some 5,000 Sioux and Cheyenne Indians. There can be no answer since there can be no rebuttal from the vanquished white side.

Although the Indian was victorious at Little Big Horn, this battle marked the end to major Indian resistance to the westward migration.

While preparing for battle, Sitting Bull, the Sioux medicine

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

'Perfect Fool' To Receive Final Tributes Thursday

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—On Sunday morning, the gentle genius of comedy, Ed Wynn, reached the end of his years, which were a few months short of four-score.

Two generations of entertainers will pay tribute to "The Perfect Fool" Thursday at Forest Lawn, and their homage is well-placed. No American star sustained a longer career and succeeded in so many phases of show business. None was more universally liked by his fellow performers.

He plodded about the stage in huge shoes and cuzzied costumes, pausing now and then to spout an insane invention as if it had just been revealed to him.

He weaved through all the acts and ended the show with a charming bit he often used.

Wynn pedaled onstage with his own invention, a piano mounted on a bicycle. The chat-ease — is believe it was Jane Pickens — sat atop the piano and sang "Tea for Two" while Wynn glided the vehicle about the stage in rhythm to the song.

His early television shows brought all his comic talents into sharp focus. The gentleness of his humor was a welcome contrast to the hard-driving comics of early TV.

Wynn was worried when his son Keenan talked him into taking a dramatic role in the film, "The Great Man." In his previous half-century before the public, he had always relied on wild costumes, clownish eyebrows and huge spectacles.

"When I saw myself in the rushes, I was amazed at how I looked," he told me. "I had never seen myself as I really was. But here was an old guy with a bald head and an ugly kisser. No wonder I had marriage troubles!"

It was one of his rare mentions of his unhappy marriages. Like Maurice Chevalier, Sophie Tucker and others who failed to find happiness in their private lives, Ed made a shine of his career. He prided himself in the fact that the only show medium he had never played was burlesque.

He was proud, too, that he remained in demand during his 70s. George Stevens gave him his most dramatic roles, in "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Little Big Horn Battle Fought 90 Years Ago

CROW AGENCY, Mont. (AP)—It was 90 years ago this week that the most famous and talked-about battle between Indians and the U.S. Army was fought in the valley of the Little Big Horn River in southern Montana.

Now the nation reads spacecraft to the planets but the years have seen little change for the green, rolling hills where Gen. George Armstrong Custer and his entire force of 262 men were annihilated June 25, 1876.

Only a cavalry officer's horse, Comanche, survived the massacre.

The site of the battle now is the Custer Battlefield National Monument. Atop the rolling hills is a national cemetery, where Custer's men lie beside victims of other wars.

The Crow Indian tribe will reenact the great battle in a week-end ceremony beginning Saturday. They will portray it from the Indians' point of view. The setting is about a mile from the actual battle site. The colorfully garbed Crow will ride into action against blue-clad cavalry.

They will portray the last great gathering of Indian warriors, determined to defend their homes and hunting grounds against the invading white man.

The museum on the battlefield, with its relics of the fight, and the small white markers which show where each man fell, fail to tell the total story of Custer's last stand. It may never be told completely.

Historians still argue about why Custer divided his command into three detachments and found only his regiment battling some 5,000 Sioux and Cheyenne Indians. There can be no answer since there can be no rebuttal from the vanquished white side.

Although the Indian was victorious at Little Big Horn, this battle marked the end to major Indian resistance to the westward migration.

While preparing for battle, Sitting Bull, the Sioux medicine

man, reportedly told his people, "Let us all gather for the last big fight."

Some historians attribute Custer's reckless behavior at the battle to his thirst for glory to ease his reprimanded pride. Custer had incurred the displeasure of President U.S. Grant by testifying against Secretary of War William W. Belknap in an investigation of alleged graft in handling affairs at Indian agencies.

Custer, a hero of the Civil War, was smarting from this rebuke when he rode to the Little Big Horn to lose a battle but win a cause. Never again did the plains Indian gather in great force to defend their homeland.

It was Custer's "last stand" and that of the Indians, too.

'Perfect Fool' To Receive Final Tributes Thursday

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—On Sunday morning, the gentle genius of comedy, Ed Wynn, reached the end of his years, which were a few months short of four-score.

Two generations of entertainers will pay tribute to "The Perfect Fool" Thursday at Forest Lawn, and their homage is well-placed. No American star sustained a longer career and succeeded in so many phases of show business. None was more universally liked by his fellow performers.

He plodded about the stage in huge shoes and cuzzied costumes, pausing now and then to spout an insane invention as if it had just been revealed to him.

He weaved through all the acts and ended the show with a charming bit he often used.

Wynn pedaled onstage with his own invention, a piano mounted on a bicycle. The chat-ease — is believe it was Jane Pickens — sat atop the piano and sang "Tea for Two" while Wynn glided the vehicle about the stage in rhythm to the song.

His early television shows brought all his comic talents into sharp focus. The gentleness of his humor was a welcome contrast to the hard-driving comics of early TV.

'Beautiful Ohio River Given Tourist Buildup

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "Beautiful Ohio" is about to be starred as a tourist attraction by states along the busy water artery.

River state governors huddled today at the windup of their Midwestern Conference here to plan a cruise next month opening a joint promotion campaign.

Participants are Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, Edward T. Brathitt of Kentucky, Roger D. Branigan of Indiana and Otto Kerner of Illinois.

They said Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith will be invited to join the cruise from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio meets the Mississippi River.

Rhodes, who estimates Ohio's tourist business alone at $1.8 billion a year, was credited with the idea of boosting the lucrative trade of all the river states.

As host governor for the 13-state conference that opened Sunday, Rhodes presided at the annual state dinner Tuesday night for about 700 delegates and guests with U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's only five-term governor as speaker.

Lausche decried what he called a false image of the United States stemming from Washington hearings on the Viet Nam conflict by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of which he is a member.

He asserted that questions and statements at the hearings led to false beliefs that the United States is the aggressor in South Viet Nam; committed atrocities there; seeks to impose unconditional surrender, making peace negotiations impossible and turned the country into a brothel. Lausche told the banquet that "the false image created by certain aspects of the hearings" induced the Buddhists, led by communists, to create the disorders in South Viet Nam in recent weeks.

Negro Riot Hits Pompano In Florida

POMPAÑO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set fire, and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the overall damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes. The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10-year-old Negro boy.

post colonial domination; deserted dissatisfaction among Democrats and labor leaders over his so-called liberalism, Lausche declared he would not be harnessed by those seeking to change his political course.

"I have no doubt but that I could gain the support of those dissatisfied individuals if I was willing to become a slave and allow them to master the performance of my public services," Lausche told newsmen. "That I will not do," he said.

Governors of Great Lakes states at the conference joined in calling for an end to St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

Kerner asserted a proposal toll increase "would have a crippling effect on the use of the seaway by our state's exporters."

He called for conference approval of a resolution adopted earlier by the steering committee of the Midwest Resources Association, forum unit of the group, asking a moratorium on tolls pending a study.

Rhodes told conferees flatly that tolls should be "lifted from the seaway." "Congress should pay for the seaway," he asserted.

The Ohio governor said Great Lakes states pay 47 per cent of all taxes collected by the federal government and added that Ohio was one of those states getting back less than it paid in.

Rhodes was slated to move up from vice chairman of the conference to chairman at closing business sessions with the Lake of the Ozarks, a new development in Missouri, favored for next year's convention.

'Beautiful Ohio River Given Tourist Buildup

CINCINNATI (AP) — The "Beautiful Ohio" is about to be starred as a tourist attraction by states along the busy water artery.

River state governors huddled today at the windup of their Midwestern Conference here to plan a cruise next month opening a joint promotion campaign.

Participants are Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, Edward T. Brathright of Kentucky, Roger D. Branigan of Indiana and Otto Kerner of Illinois.

They said Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith will be invited to join the cruise from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio meets the Mississippi River.

Rhodes, who estimates Ohio's tourist business alone at $1.8 billion a year, was credited with the idea of boosting the lucrative trade of all the river states.

As host governor for the 13-state conference that opened Sunday, Rhodes presided at the annual state dinner Tuesday night for about 700 delegates and guests with U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's only five-term governor as speaker.

Lausche decried what he called a false image of the United States stemming from Washington hearings on the Viet Nam conflict by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of which he is a member.

He asserted that questions and statements at the hearings led to false beliefs that the United States is the aggressor in South Viet Nam; committed atrocities there; seeks to impose unconditional surrender, making peace negotiations impossible and turned the country into a brothel.

Lausche told the banquet that "the false image created by certain aspects of the hearings" induced the Buddhists, led by communists, to create the disorders in South Viet Nam in recent weeks.

Negro Riot Hits Pompano In Florida

POMPAÑO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set fire, and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the overall damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes. The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10-year-old Negro boy.

post colonial domination; deserted dissatisfaction among Democrats and labor leaders over his so-called liberalism, Lausche declared he would not be harassed by those seeking to change his political course.

"I have no doubt but that I could gain the support of those dissatisfied individuals if I was willing to become a slave and allow them to master the performance of my public services," Lausche told newsmen. "That I will not do," he said.

Governors of Great Lakes states at the conference joined in calling for an end to St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

Ferner asserted a proposal toll increase "would have a crippling effect on the use of the seaway by our state's exporters."

He called for conference approval of a resolution adopted earlier by the steering committee of the Midwest Resources Association, forum unit of the group, asking a moratorium on tolls pending a study.

Rhodes told conferees flatly that tolls should be "littered from the seaway. "Congress should pay for the seaway," he asserted.

The Ohio governor said Great Lakes states pay 47 per cent of all taxes collected by the federal government and added that Ohio was one of those states getting back less than it paid in.

Rhodes was slated to move up from vice chairman of the conference to chairman at closing business sessions with the Lake of the Ozarks, a new development in Missouri, favored for next year's convention.

Railroad Smoke Fails To Help Pittsburgh '9'

Redleg Slugger Johnson Leads In Rout of 11-8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Deron Johnson never would make it as a railroad engineer in Cincinnati.

When the railroad engineers learned that Pittsburgh would be in town Tuesday night, they arranged a pleasant little reception. Johnson ruined the party with some lusty hitting that was hardly hospitable.

It's been 20 years or so since Pittsburgh was bothered by smoke but it was just like old times for a few minutes in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Midway through the first inning of the Reds' 11-8 victory over the Pirates, the engineers and a friendly little breeze combined to float a cloud of black smoke into Crosley Field.

That touch of oldtime atmosphere was the last friendly gesture Cincinnati made all night once Johnson went to work.

The Pirates had grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first inning before the smoke from neighboring Union Station began blowing into Crosley Field.

The cloud caused a delay of four minutes while it floated down the first base line, over to the mound and on out to the outfield. The players could hardly see each other and when it finally cleared, the umpires threw a ball to the outfielders to make sure they could see.

When play resumed, the Reds hopped on Woody Fryman for four runs and a lead they never relinquished. Johnson hammered a three-run homer in the second, climaxing a five-run Reds' rally that built a 9-3 lead. After coming out of the smoke, the Pirates pecked away at the lead but never caught up. Johnson added a double and scored two runs in addition to his three RBI.

Elsewhere, New York shaded St. Louis 2-1 on Bob Shaw's four-hitter, Atlanta dropped Philadelphia 4-1. Houston whipped Los Angeles 7-4 and San Francisco downed Chicago 9-7.

In the American League, Baltimore split a doubleheader with New York, winning 7-5 before losing 8-3. Kansas City edged Chicago, 9-8. Detroit defeated Washington 5-2. Cleveland edged Boston 2-1 and California downed Minnesota 10-7.

Former New York Yankee catcher Charlie Silvera scouts for the Washington Senators.

Campaneris Is Developing Theft Talent

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Campy Campaneris stole a victory for the Kansas City A's in the last half of the ninth inning Tuesday night — the third time that's happened in four games — so comparisons with Maury Wills of Los Angeles were inevitable.

"At his age Camp is way ahead of Wills at the same age," said Alvin Dark, A's manager. "This boy is only 24 and Wills was almost 27 when he came up to the Dodgers in 1959 (after eight seasons in the minors).

Campaneris has only 10 stolen bases in his first 53 games compared to his season total of 51 last year which led the American League. But this is deceiving.

The swift little Cuban is making use of his speed more effectively this season in more phases of the game. Against the White Sox Tuesday night, he twice beat out bunts down the third base line — something he seldom tried last year.

Nervous fielders have made costly errors trying to cut him down and opposing pitchers make many more wild pitches when he's on base.

With the score tied 8-8 in the last of the ninth Tuesday night against Chicago, Campy opened by beating out a ball to short. He was sacrificed to second. He then surprised by stealing third, the throw was wild and he scored to win it 9-8.

Hamilton Outfielder Signed by Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees signed outfielder Jim Little of Hamilton, Ohio, as their first choice in the college draft Tuesday, for a bonus package of more than $50,000.

Little, who attends Florida State University, will report Friday to Fort Lauderdale of the Florida State League. Last season he batted .324 for his college team and will play in Florida until September when he expects to return to school.

Buffalo '9' Hands Hens Double Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching isn't supposed to be Buffalo's strong point, but try telling that to John Tsitouris and Jim Duffalo.

Route-going performances by Tsitouris and Duffalo gave the Bisons a 2-0, 6-2 sweep Tuesday night over the Toledo Mud Hens and boosted them into a tie for fifth place in the International League race.

Despite an 8-7 loss in 15 innings to the Syracuse Chiefs, the Jacksonville Suns moved into a second-place tie with Toledo. The Columbus Jets increased their league lead to 6 1/2 games with a 5-4 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Buffalo's twin triumph moved the Bisons into a deadlock with the Richmond Braves, who whipped the Rochester Red Wings 6-2 in the second game of a doubleheader after Rochester won the opener 4-2.

Tsitouris pitched a four-hitter in shutting out Toledo in the seven-inning opener and Duffalo scattered eight hits in the nightcap, in which he blanked the Mud Hens after giving up two runs in the first inning.

A two-base error and Bob Perry's single after a lead-off home run by Dave Roberts accounted for two runs in the eighth as Columbus overcame a 4-3 deficit for its triumph over Toronto.

Both the Jets and the Hawks stand 4-1 in the league. Close behind is the American Legion with three wins and two losses.

Richie Speakman started for the Jets and pitched three, earning the win. He relieved by Don Valentine in the top of the fourth. Together they allowed only six hits.

Howard Cline started for the Millers but had to be spelled after one. Bill LaGrow came in and lasted into the third. Finally Alan Hawks came in and finished. They allowed a total of nine hits.

Speakman helped his winning cause by smacking a homer. Teammates Steve Davis and Jimmie Ramey added triples.

For the losers, Steve Allen clouted a triple and a double and LaGrow and Leasure had doubles.

The Savings Bank outscored VFW, 19-12, in the Pony League last night.

The Bankers tallied six runs in the first inning and six in the fourth for the major scoring offensives.

Harold Smith was the winning hurler for the Bankers. He allowed eight runs.

Tim Mogan and Merle Thomas split mound duties for the losers.

For the Bankers, Smith had a homer, Gary Robbins three triples, John Simison two triples a double and two singles, and Rickey Jacobs a double.

For the Vets Ronnie Haddox belted a triple and a double. Jeff Hartsough and Richard Strawser a double and a single each, Thomas a double and Compton a single.

L. M. Butch, Kiwanis Win BR Tilts

L. M. Butch edged Lindsey Bakery, 2-1, and Kiwanis romped to a 14-3 win over Logan Elm in Babe Ruth action Tuesday in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program.

In the Lindsey-Butch tilt Tommy Wright stole home in the bottom half of the fifth inning with the winning run.

With the score knotted at 1-1, Wright was moving with the pitch.

Jeff Steele was the winning pitcher. He walked two and fanned 13, giving up three hits. Two hits off Steele went for extra bases. Chuck Walisa and Bob Oesterle cracked doubles.

DON CORDLE was the losing hurler. He walked five, whiffed 14 and was touched for two singles.

Pat Whaley went the distance in the Logan Elm-Kiwanis game, picking up the win.

He and Ron Bryant were the leading hitters for the winners. Each blasted a triple, two doubles and a single.

Danny Fausnaugh was the losing pitcher. He went the first five innings and was relieved by D. J. Humphrey.

Buxton Drives Dayton Pacer to Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Faithful Kid, owned by Arthur Meyring of Dayton, came from behind to win the featured $1,000 pace at Scioto Downs Tuesday night in 2:03 4-5.

Driven by Dick Buxton, the 4-year-old pacer posted his fourth victory in nine starts this season, paying $4.20, $3.40 and $2.80.

1st National Handed Initial Loss in LL

Blue Ribbon Dairy handed First National their only loss in five games, 9-8. Ward's Market slipped past Circleville Oil, 6-5, and Second National tripped the Savings Bank, 14-7, in Little League minor action.

Blue Ribbon's win moves them into a tie for second place with the First Bankers. Both teams are a full game behind 100F, undefeated in five tilts.

Going into the last inning, First National and Blue Ribbon were tied, 8-8. First National was scoreless in the top of the sixth. Blue Ribbon's Reggie Radcliff drove a triple into the outfield to score a baserunner for the win.

Radcliff also was the winning hurler, going the distance. He walked seven, fanned five and scattered five hits.

MIKE GILLIAN started for the Bankers but was relieved after four by Robin Martin. They allowed 11 hits.

Jesse Jenkins and Radcliff tagged triples for the winners. Doug Stevenson added a double.

For the losers, John Ankrom slugged a two-bagger.

Doug Spangler picked up the mound win for Wards, as he fanned 14 Circleville Oil batters and allowed four hits.

Mick Karickhoff and Terry Rooney split mound chores for the losers. They allowed only seven hits.

Roger Karr tagged a triple for the winners. Reaser, Tim Strawser and Yamarick added doubles.

Roger Karr was the big punch for the Oilmen, tagging a triple and two doubles.

American League pitchers Mel Stottlemyre of the Yankees and Camilo Pascual of the Twins hit grand slam home runs last season.

Railroad Smoke Fails To Help Pittsburgh '9'

Redleg Slugger Johnson Leads In Rout of 11-8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deron Johnson never would make it as a railroad engineer in Cincinnati.

When the railroad engineers learned that Pittsburgh would be in town Tuesday night, they arranged a pleasant little reception. Johnson ruined the party with some lusty hitting that was hardly hospitable.

It's been 20 years or so since Pittsburgh was bothered by smoke but it was just like old times for a few minutes in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Midway through the first inning of the Reds' 11-8 victory over the Pirates, the engineers and a friendly little breeze combined to float a cloud of black smoke into Crosley Field.

That touch of oldtime atmosphere was the last friendly gesture Cincinnati made all night once Johnson went to work.

The Pirates had grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first inning before the smoke from neighboring Union Station began blowing into Crosley Field.

The cloud caused a delay of four minutes while it floated down the first base line, over to the mound and on out to the outfield. The players could hardly see each other and when it finally cleared, the umpires threw a ball to the outfielders to make sure they could see.

When play resumed, the Reds hopped on Woody Fryman for four runs and a lead they never relinquished. Johnson hammered a three-run homer in the second, climaxing a five-run Reds' rally that built a 9-3 lead.

After coming out of the smoke, the Pirates pecked away at the lead but never caught up. Johnson added a double and scored two runs in addition to his three RBI.

Elsewhere, New York shaded St. Louis 2-1 on Bob Shaw's four-hitter, Atlanta dropped Philadelphia 4-1. Houston whipped Los Angeles 7-4 and San Francisco downed Chicago 9-7.

In the American League, Baltimore split a doubleheader with New York, winning 7-5 before losing 8-3. Kansas City edged Chicago, 9-8. Detroit defeated Washington, 5-2. Cleveland edged Boston 2-1 and California downed Minnesota 10-7.

Former New York Yankee catcher Charlie Silvera scouts for the Washington Senators.

Campaneris Is Developing Theft Talent

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Campy Campaneris stole a victory for the Kansas City A's in the last half of the ninth inning Tuesday night — the third time that's happened in four games — so comparisons with Maury Wills of Los Angeles were inevitable.

"At his age Camp is way ahead of Wills at the same age," said Alvin Dark, A's manager. "This boy is only 24 and Wills was almost 27 when he came up to the Dodgers in 1959 (after eight seasons in the minors).

Campaneris has only 10 stolen bases in his first 53 games compared to his season total of 51 last year which led the American League. But this is deceiving.

The swift little Cuban is making use of his speed more effectively this season in more phases of the game. Against the White Sox Tuesday night, he twice beat out bunts down the third base line — something he seldom tried last year.

Nervous fielders have made costly errors trying to cut him down and opposing pitchers make many more wild pitches when he's on base.

With the score tied 8-8 in the last of the ninth Tuesday night against Chicago, Campy opened by beating out a ball to short. He was sacrificed to second. He then surprised by stealing third, the throw was wild and he scored to win it 9-8.

Hamilton Outfielder Signed by Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees signed outfielder Jim Lytle of Hamilton, Ohio, as their first choice in the college draft Tuesday, for a bonus package of more than $50,000.

Lytle, who attends Florida State University, will report Friday to Fort Lauderdale of the Florida State League. Last season he batted .324 for his college team and will play in Florida until September when he expects to return to school.

Buffalo '9' Hands Hens Double Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitching isn't supposed to be Buffalo's strong point, but try telling that to John Tsitouris and Jim Duffalo.

Route-going performances by Tsitouris and Duffalo gave the Bisons a 2-0, 6-2 sweep Tuesday night over the Toledo Mud Hens and boosted them into a tie for fifth place in the International League race.

Despite an 8-7 loss in 15 innings to the Syracuse Chiefs, the Jacksonville Suns moved into a second-place tie with Toledo. The Columbus Jets increased their league lead to 6 1/2 games with a 5-4 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Buffalo's twin triumph moved the Bisons into a deadlock with the Richmond Braves, who whipped the Rochester Red Wings 6-2 in the second game of a doubleheader after Rochester won the opener 4-2.

Tsitouris pitched a four-hitter in shutting out Toledo in the seven-inning opener and Duffalo scattered eight hits in the nightcap, in which he blanked the Mud Hens after giving up two runs in the first inning.

A two-base error and Bob Perry's single after a lead-off home run by Dave Roberts accounted for two runs in the eighth as Columbus overcame a 4-3 deficit for its triumph over Toronto.

12-Hit Attack Powers K of C To 18-4 Victory

In the Mosquito League last night, the Knights of Columbus over-powered Mac's Goodyear, 18-4, on a 12 hit attack.

The win for the Knights ties them with Hill Implement for the lead of the loop at three wins and no losses.

Phil Roll and Mick Diltz took on pitching duties for K of C, fanning 13 and allowing only two hits.

Jeff Spires went the distance for Mac's, fanning 14 and allowing all 12 hits.

Roll tagged a triple and two singles for the winners. Brian Herron had a double and two singles. Robert Rose had three singles.

For the losers, Spires and Manson had the only hits, doubles.

Tests Are Planned For Bear Bryant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doctors at the View Park Community Hospital administered electrocardiograms and other tests today to University of Alabama Football Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant but didn't say when he would be released.

Spokesmen would say only that he is resting comfortably and there is no change in his condition.

The famed 52-year-old coach collapsed Monday while speaking to a coaches clinic at Pepperdine College.

Approximately 500 coaches were present when Bryant began his talk on recruiting and organization, two fields in which he is considered a specialist.

2 More Cuban Athletes Flee Reds

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Two more Cuban athletes have defected to seek asylum in the United States as the end of the Central American and Caribbean games in San Juan draws near.

Francisco Marti Gonzales, 20, a swimmer, and Hector Rodriguez, a track man, left their team Tuesday, bringing to three the number of Cubans to defect since the games started 10 days ago. Marti said five or six others plan to defect.

Juan Pablo Vega Romero, 18, a wrestler, sought asylum June 13.

The Cuban government sent a 347-member delegation to the event, which ends Saturday. About 10 Cubans defected during the last games in Jamaica in 1962, most of them in the final days.

There was a rumor that Cuban officials would order all athletes as they finish competing to return to the Cuban freighter Cerro Pelado which is waiting off San Juan to take the delegation back to Havana. But Jose Llanuza, Cuban education minister, the head of the Cuban delegation, has said repeatedly that his athletes are free to defect if they wish.

Marti competed in the 100- and 200-meter butterfly stroke

but did not qualify for the final. The swimming competition ended two days ago.

Both Marti and Rodriguez were taken to the U.S. Immigration offices by Cuban exiles. The man who aided Marti was his cousin.

Marti already has been granted asylum and U.S. officials began processing Rodriguez' application.

Marti said he plans to live with his cousin in New York. He told a news conference he was turning his back on Fidel Castro because there is no future for a young man in Cuba. He said he tried to leave Cuba in 1961 but was denied permission.

U.S. Tennis Ace Faces Strong Russian Challenge

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, top American hope for the Wimbledon title, faced the growing challenge of Russian tennis today.

The Bakersfield, Calif., star seeded No. 6, was paired against Alexander Metreveli, the Soviet No. 1, in the second round and he agreed it was no pushover.

"This boy can play," Ralston said. "No sensible man could fail to respect the Russians these days."

Metreveli, 22-year-old journalist student at Tbilisi University, is the most finished product of the Russian drive to get a foothold in world tennis. For two straight years he has reached the third round at Wimbledon.

It is just seven years since the Russians decided to promote tennis as a serious sport for the Soviet people.

Russian players won both boys' and girls' junior titles at Wimbledon last year. The Russians are out to do the same again this time, with two 17-year-olds challenging the cream of the world's teen-agers — Vladimir Korotkov and Rosa Islanov.

Roy Emerson of Australia, tilting for his third straight Wimbledon title, has an old score to settle against Wilhelm Bungert, the tall and elegant German. Bungert was the last man to defeat Emerson at Wimbledon — in the quarter-finals of 1963.

Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, who is seeded No. 8, faced the Australian left-hander, Owen Davidson.

Tony Roche, the Australian who is seeded No. 2, took his place in today's round despite an injured left ankle. He defeated Ted Beards of Britain 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 Tuesday in the first round after being granted a 24-hour postponement.

The women's singles got under way Tuesday and the eight seeds all successfully cleared their first hurdles. But Nancy Richey, the Wightman Cup star from Dallas, Tex., survived a shaky start before overcoming Fay Toyne of Australia 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Her Wightman Cup costar, Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., overcame a long, grim second set to defeat 19-year-old Winnie Shaw, the rising Scots star, 6-2, 8-6. Billie Jean had her service broken three times in the second set, but always volleyed her way out of trouble.

Reigning champion Margaret Smith of Australia, crushed Britain's Liz Starkie, 8-6, 6-2. Maria Bueno of Brazil, winner of the title three times in seven years, scored a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Stephanie De Fina of Hollywood, Fla.

2 More Cuban Athletes Flee Reds

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Two more Cuban athletes have defected to seek asylum in the United States as the end of the Central American and Caribbean games in San Juan draws near.

Francisco Marti Gonzales, 20, a swimmer, and Hector Rodriguez, a track man, left their team Tuesday, bringing to three the number of Cubans to defect since the games started 10 days ago. Marti said five or six others plan to defect.

Juan Pablo Vega Romero, 18, a wrestler, sought asylum June 13.

The Cuban government sent a 347-member delegation to the event, which ends Saturday. About 10 Cubans defected during the last games in Jamaica in 1962, most of them in the final days.

There was a rumor that Cuban officials would order all athletes as they finish competing to return to the Cuban freighter Cerro Pelado which is waiting off San Juan to take the delegation back to Havana. But Jose Llanuza, Cuban education minister, the head of the Cuban delegation, has said repeatedly that his athletes are free to defect if they wish.

Marti competed in the 100- and 200-meter butterfly stroke

but did not qualify for the final. The swimming competition ended two days ago.

Both Marti and Rodriguez were taken to the U.S. Immigration offices by Cuban exiles. The man who aided Marti was his cousin.

Marti already has been granted asylum and U.S. officials began processing Rodriguez' application.

Marti said he plans to live with his cousin in New York. He told a news conference he was turning his back on Fidel Castro because there is no future for a young man in Cuba. He said he tried to leave Cuba in 1961 but was denied permission.

U.S. Tennis Ace Faces Strong Russian Challenge

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, top American hope for the Wimbledon title, faced the growing challenge of Russian tennis today.

The Bakersfield, Calif., star seeded No. 6, was paired against Alexander Metreveli, the Soviet No. 1, in the second round and he agreed it was no pushover.

"This boy can play," Ralston said. "No sensible man could fail to respect the Russians these days."

Metreveli, 22-year-old journalistic student at Tbilisi University, is the most finished product of the Russian drive to get a foothold in world tennis. For two straight years he has reached the third round at Wimbledon.

It is just seven years since the Russians decided to promote tennis as a serious sport for the Soviet people.

Russian players won both boys' and girls' junior titles at Wimbledon last year. The Russians are out to do the same again this time, with two 17-year-olds challenging the cream of the world's teen-agers — Vladimir Korotkov and Rosa Islanova.

Roy Emerson of Australia, tilting for his third straight Wimbledon title, has an old score to settle against Wilhelm Bungert, the tall and elegant German. Bungert was the last

New Priest at St. Joseph's Assumes Duties in Parish

Assuming his new duties as assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Catholic Church this week is the Rev. Father William J. Metzler.

Father Metzler is the replacement for Father John Marquis who was transferred last week, by order of Bishop John J. Carberry, to a Columbus parish.

The new assistant is a native of Junction City in Perry County. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Metzler. In addition to Father Metzler, there are five other sons of the Metzlers in the religious life. A brother, Robert, is also a priest. A brother, Richard, is a graduate of St. Charles Seminary in Columbus and will be ordained a priest next year from Mount St. Mary's Seminary at Norwood. Two other brothers, Charles and Michael, are members of the Precious Blood Brothers religious order — their religious names are Brother Edwin and Brother David respectively. The youngest brother, Steve, is also a seminarian and a graduate of St.

British Radio Transmitter Owner Slain

LONDON (AP) — A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice president of the Liberal party and a pirate radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 10 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

FATHER W. J. METZLER

Charles in Columbus. A sister, Mary Anne, teaches grade school at St. Mary's in Lancaster.

Father Metzler graduated from St. Charles High School in 1955 after attending public schools in Perry County. He was graduated from St. Charles College Seminary in 1955 and ordained a priest on Dec. 22, 1962. He was later graduated from Mount St. Mary's Theological Seminary in 1963.

His first assignment after ordination was assistant at St. Agatha's parish in Columbus, a post he held until his appointment here. Father Metzler, a member of the Knights of Columbus, also taught at Bishop Watterson High School while stationed at St. Agatha's. He indicated he would also be filling a vacancy on the teaching staff of Bishop Flager High School in Chillicothe left by the transfer of Father Marquis.

While in Circleville, the new assistant will be directly responsible to Msgr. Joseph P. McGlynn, pastor of St. Joseph's.

Soviet Set To Expose Itself to Auto Era

MOSCOW (AP)—The automobile civilization seems about to come to the Soviet Union.

Communism will never be the same again if it does. In its way, this is one of the most revolutionary developments in the country since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

Until now, the Soviet Union has hardly seen what the automobile can do to life. It has been getting along on public transportation.

Whereas there are 374 cars per 1,000 population in the United States and 176 in France, the Soviet Union has only 4 per 1,000.

But the new five-year plan indicates things are going to change. The new Soviet man will find himself confronted with the joys—and horrors—of the automobile era, if the plan in fact foreshadows the future.

During the next five years, auto production is to increase from 200,000 a year to 800,000. Two new plants are to be built. A new small model called the Zima is to be introduced. Cars already being manufactured are to be remodeled. Prices are to be reduced from their present astronomical levels — now about four times higher than in the West.

Back in the iron age of Joseph Stalin, the car — the private car, that is — had no place.

Nikita S. Khrushchev came along and started raising living standards, letting the people have more of the national product. Nevertheless, Khrushchev was strongly anti-automobile.

Khrushchev increased public transportation. He saw it not only avoiding the "waste" of private cars, but also the needs they bring with them — parking places, service stations, garages, highways. The whole complex.

Khrushchev's successors, led Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, in all probability agree with him about the by Communist party leader uselessness of the private car, from the old standpoint.

But they are showing a new responsiveness to the wants of the people, who are no longer just the poor, simple masses. Education and prosperity have made for pressure from below. The leadership is so well-trenched that it probably could resist this pressure altogether and survive. But Brezhnev, Kosygin & Co. apparently see no reason why they should.

Even waiting lists and high prices have not deterred Russians from trying to get cars.

Nor difficulties in finding parts and getting repairs made.

The small Moskvich sells for about the equivalent of $5,000 or five times the Russian average annual wage. The Volga, about the size of an American compact, is around $8,600. But Ivan gladly waits months, even years, for the privilege of paying out his hard-earned money for that first car.

The new high-rise apartment buildings put up to meet the housing shortage have no facilities for parking. Downtown areas, with the exception of a few large squares, offer the driver only curb space. That would soon become inadequate.

Service stations are scarce and tucked away in unlikely places. There are exactly seven in Moscow, and they can be found only with instructions. Service consists of letting the driver pump the gas himself. Garages also are scarce. It's hard to get mechanics to work on a car, the garages are so crowded.

Windshield wipers illustrate the spare parts problem. Owners take them off if their car has to be left unattended, for fear they will be stolen by other car owners who cannot find them in the stores.

Most roads outside of the cities still have only dirt surfaces. The paved ones, particularly in winter, are often pocked with holes. The government has promised to improve the situation, but the work indicated still leaves lots to be done. And the more cars, the worst it will get. In short, it seems that the Soviet Union is coming into the automobile era unprepared, like other countries before it, but coming nonetheless.

Assuming his new duties as assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Catholic Church this week is the Rev. Father William J. Metzler.

Father Metzler is the replacement for Father John Marquis who was transferred last week, by order of Bishop John J. Carberry, to a Columbus parish.

The new assistant is a native of Junction City in Perry County. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Metzler. In addition to Father Metzler, there are five other sons of the Metzlers in the religious life. A brother, Robert, is also a priest. A brother, Richard, is a graduate of St. Charles Seminary in Columbus and will be ordained a priest next year from Mount St. Mary's Seminary at Norwood. Two other brothers, Charles and Michael, are members of the Precious Blood Brothers religious order — their religious names are Brother Edwin and Brother David respectively. The youngest brother, Steve, is also a seminarian and a graduate of St.

FATHER W. J. METZLER

Charles in Columbus. A sister, Mary Anne, teaches grade school at St. Mary's in Lancaster.

Father Metzler graduated from St. Charles High School in 1955 after attending public schools in Perry County. He was graduated from St. Charles College - Seminary in 1955 and ordained a priest on Dec. 22, 1962. He was later graduated from Mount St. Mary's Theological Seminary in 1963.

His first assignment after ordination was assistant at St. Agatha's parish in Columbus, a post he held until his appointment here. Father Metzler, a member of the Knights of Columbus, also taught at Bishop Watterson High School while stationed at St. Agatha's. He indicated he would also be filling a vacancy on the teaching staff of Bishop Flager High School in Chillicothe left by the transfer of Father Marquis.

While in Circleville, the new assistant will be directly responsible to Msgr. Joseph P. McGlynn, pastor of St. Joseph's.

Soviet Set To Expose Itself to Auto Era

MOSCOW (AP)—The automobile civilization seems about to come to the Soviet Union.

Communism will never be the same again if it does. In its way, this is one of the most revolutionary developments in the country since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

Until now, the Soviet Union has hardly seen what the automobile can do to life. It has been getting along on public transportation.

Whereas there are 374 cars per 1,000 population in the United States and 176 in France, the Soviet Union has only 4 per 1,000.

But the new five-year plan indicates things are going to change. The new Soviet man will find himself confronted with the joys—and horrors—of the automobile era, if the plan in fact foreshadows the future.

During the next five years, auto production is to increase from 200,000 a year to 800,000. Two new plants are to be built. A new small model called the Zima is to be introduced. Cars already being manufactured are to be remodeled. Prices are to be reduced from their present astronomical levels — now about four times higher than in the West.

Back in the iron age of Joseph Stalin, the car — the private car, that is — had no place.

Nikita S. Khrushchev came along and started raising living standards, letting the people have more of the national product. Nevertheless, Khrushchev was strongly anti-automobile.

Khrushchev increased public transportation. He saw it not only avoiding the "waste" of private cars, but also the needs they bring with them — parking places, service stations, garages, highways. The whole complex.

Khrushchev's successors, led Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, in all probability agree with him about the by Communist party leader uselessness of the private car, from the old standpoint.

But they are showing a new responsiveness to the wants of the people, who are no longer just the poor, simple masses. Education and prosperity have made for pressure from below. The leadership is so well-trenched that it probably could resist this pressure altogether and survive. But Brezhnev, Kosygin & Co. apparently see no reason why they should.

Even waiting lists and high prices have not deterred Russians from trying to get cars.

Nor difficulties in finding parts and getting repairs made.

The small Moskvich sells for about the equivalent of $5,000 or five times the Russian average annual wage. The Volga, about the size of an American compact, is around $6,600. But Ivan gladly waits months, even years, for the privilege of paying out his hard-earned money for that first car.

The new high-rise apartment buildings put up to meet the housing shortage have no facilities for parking. Downtown areas, with the exception of a few large squares, offer the driver only curb space. That would soon become inadequate.

Service stations are scarce and tucked away in unlikely places. There are exactly seven in Moscow, and they can be found only with instructions. Service consists of letting the driver pump the gas himself. Garages also are scarce. It's hard to get mechanics to work on a car, the garages are so crowded.

Windshield wipers illustrate the spare parts problem. Owners take them off if their car has to be left unattended, for fear they will be stolen by other car owners who cannot find them in the stores.

Most roads outside of the cities still have only dirt surfaces. The paved ones, particularly in winter, are often pocked with holes. The government has promised to improve the situation, but the work indicated still leaves lots to be done. And the more cars, the worst it will get. In short, it seems that the Soviet Union is coming into the automobile era unprepared, like other countries before it, but coming nonetheless.

British Radio Transmitter Owner Slain

LONDON (AP) — A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice president of the Liberal party and a pirate radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned anti-aircraft fort on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 10 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

Writer Takes Assignment, Then Finds Self Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Example of how one thing can lead to another: writer Richard Warren Lewis accepted a magazine assignment and found himself a wife.

It started last month when Lewis was delegated by TV Guide to write an article on "The Dating Game," a daytime show on ABC Television. The gimmick of the show is to present a single man or woman with three possibilities for dates. By interrogation — but without seeing the three prospects — the contestant picks the likeliest date.

Lewis selected actress Joan Patrick. Twelve days later they were engaged. They plan to marry Aug. 27.

Still stunned by the sequence of events, they explained how it happened. Miss Patrick is 27, a Windsor, Ont., girl who was once Miss Canada; in recent times she has appeared in television and plays. Lewis, 33, a New Yorker who was born in Bellow's Falls, Vt., has been a successful magazine writer.

"When I was assigned the story on 'The Dating Game,' I thought I might get a different approach by appearing on the show myself," he said. "I was one of three possibilities for a girl singer to date. She chose one of the others, and I found myself out in the network parking lot with a consolation prize of a bottle of cologne under my arm."

"I felt frustrated, and I wanted to try again, this time as the one seeking a date."

Meanwhile Miss Patrick had come to Hollywood from her New York home for a television film.

"I didn't want to do the show," she recalled "but my agent said I would be barred from the studio for life if I didn't take the role. So I flew out here, arriving at 4:30 a.m. At 10 that morning, ABC called with an offer to appear on 'The Dating Game.' It had to be fate."

He chose Joan for his date, and they were awarded a dinner at a swank Beverly Hills cafe and an art gallery opening. They were to spend the evening together two weeks after the show, but he asked for a date that night.

Twelve days later he inquired: "What would your reaction be if I asked you to marry me?" She suggested he try it; he did; she accepted.
